These records have already begun to inform academic research on this region.

Master's and Ph. D students of the University of Para are presently conducting research that will result in major studies of the region.
Historians of Brazil, the Amazon, or the Portuguese Empire may be interested in this project to create an inventory and digitize 17th and 18th-century records from Belém do Pará, Brazil.

The Endangered Archives Programme subsidized by the British Library (United Kingdom) allowed for EAP 753 “Rescuing Archives from Belém do Pará” – a partnership between Miami University, (Oxford, OH, USA) and the Research Group “Population, Family and Migration
